Sharing Hope in God During Times of Crisis

Dear Phylcia,

These are unsettling times. Our world is engulfed in chaos, marked by wars, food shortages, economic instability, and political upheaval.

It's perfectly natural to feel overwhelmed with negative emotions. We can be gripped by fear, feeling powerless, and struggling with hopelessness.

Unless we change our focus from the circumstances that surround us to the God within us, these negative emotions will remain. God, who loves us unconditionally, stands as the supreme ruler of the universe. He possesses the ability to turn adversity into good, providing us with hope for the future.

Take a moment to read "Hope in Times of Crisis" to uncover five essential steps for redirecting your attention towards God."
